

Hudson Valley Community College

Workforce Development Institute at Hudson Valley Community College offers non-credit courses and provides specific skills training. Course offerings may be found on the HVCC Workforce Development Institute website at: www.hvcc.edu/wdi

We provide professional development and training for people, businesses and organizations throughout the Capital District and beyond. All of our courses are non-credit, and provide Continuing Education Units (CEUs).

Whether you are looking to begin your first career, trying to advance at the company where you currently work, looking to change careers entirely or simply need to brush up on some skills, you will find the courses you need at the Workforce Development Institute.