

Welcome back!

Welcome to Music 7! We will be learning how your favorite music came about, tracing its history from the very start. We'll stroll through the ancient lands of Europe and may take a quick stop to play some guitar or piano. We'll talk about some rockers you may know (Bach, Beethoven, Mozart) and some that will make you cringe. The purpose of this class is to help you appreciate all types of music and how similar they actually are.

You will need the following materials for every class:

- 3 ring binder or folder-you may use a section of another class' binder
- Writing utensil and chrome book
- An open mind and positive attitude

You will be graded on the following:

- 20% Class participation (discussions, on-task practice, etc.)
- 65% Class work/activities (listening log, worksheets, etc.), projects
- 15% Remote assignments

As with every class, appropriate behavior is expected. Disruptive behavior makes everyone else's experience less than positive. It is your choice to not participate but do not disrupt the students that would like to learn. Be respectful of everyone's opinions and interests-celebrate the similarities and appreciate the differences. I will be operating with the "three strikes" policy.

In-person versus remote days. When you are scheduled on a day when you are home, sometimes instead of streaming into the class you will use the time to work another activity (project, reading, etc.).

Be careful with school instruments and equipment so that we can use them for years to come. Please check your instrument before you play it and let me know if there is any issue with it immediately.

Please fill out the google form contract (link will be on schoology) by Friday September 18th
