Grades & Testing:

- Grades count this year as in any other year. See the parent handbook for a breakdown of course percentages.
- Regents tests are cancelled for January, but are on for June (as far as we know).
 - Juniors typically take the US History Regents exam & the ELA Regents exam.
 - Seniors may have Regents tests to do, depending on the classes they are in & whether they have failed a previous Regents.
- Advanced Placement tests are also still on as of right now. Those happen in the spring.

- Students must keep up on their work & attend Zoom meetings.
 - Zoom attendance - See the “Grade 11/12 Class Expectations Quick Reference” document that is posted on the website to know what each teacher expects.
 - Teachers provide necessary instruction and often walk students through assignments in Zoom meetings. Attending them counts towards students’ attendance and makes a big difference to whether students understand and complete the work.
 - Absences can be earned back if students make up work. Each teacher is free to set their own parameters as to how that is done. Contact your student’s teacher directly or see the syllabus if your student needs to earn back absences.

The background of the slide features a stylized, layered illustration of a forest and mountains. The foreground shows a dense line of evergreen trees in shades of green and brown. Behind them are rolling hills and mountain ranges in warm, hazy tones of orange, yellow, and light brown, creating a sense of depth and a peaceful, natural setting.

- Wednesdays
 - These are part of our schedule and count as school days. Any work assigned has to be completed. Teachers may require students to attend office hours on Wednesdays or ask them to check in only if they need help. This could be posted on Schoology or as an invitation on your student's Google Calendar.
 - Email individual teachers, check syllabi, or see the “Grade 11/12 Class Expectations Quick Reference” to learn what your student should do on Wednesdays.

- Communication

- Familiarize yourself with the Schoology calendar, “upcoming assignments” section, message function, and updates tab in Schoology.
- Parents and students can email teachers or message them on Schoology.
- Get in touch with Ms. Bauer if you would like to have a parent/teacher conference concerning your grade 11 or 12 student.

Learning Center/Resource Room

- If your student is in a Learning Center, it is a mandated service on their Individual Education Plan.
- Students should be attending class and Zooms as the the work completed supports their content in general classes as well as addresses transition and IEP goals.
- Resource Room is not a time to complete homework, though students can ask questions and get support if they are confused on the topic.
- Please reach out to your student's case manager if you have any questions or concerns.
